WORDS ARE USEFUL

What I mean is—

This is the most objectionable phrase in the English language, it is the first belief of Mrs. Ruth Norton Donnelly, instructor in the University of California Extension Division.

Of course, we have the good old saying, "Do you know what I mean?" And like that, "And everything," she explained.

A person's vocabulary is a direct indication of his ideas, according to Mrs. Donnelly. "His starts out to explain something that he does not understand himself. Naturally the listener stops listening, and the speaker starts all over again, with one of those pet phrases. "An overdose of irrelevant words gives rise to foggy expression of ideas, instead of distinct impressions. The person who succeeds can express himself."

Mrs. Donnelly explained that she did not mean to exclude slang from "correct English." "There is a place for slang if it is not overdone. Slang provides entertainment and intimacy in conversation," she believed.

nounced that several girls from the Hi-Toppers, an organization of high school girls, have assumed responsibility for the flood relief contribution boxes at Richmond banks.

The girls in charge of collections
were named by Miss Anita Drummey, president of the organization.
Nida Jardine and Hazel Mills with Miss Drummey will have charge of collections at the Mechanics bank

Rubber Strike At Akron Plant Has Been Ended

AKRON, Ohio, March 21.—UP—
The first week strike at the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company's largest tire factory in the world
ended tonight and 15,000 jubilant strikers, hailing union recognition, prepared to go back to work.

Union rubber workers crowding
the big Akron armory shouted their approval of a peaceful "peace plan," then trooped to their homes rejoicing and laughing.

The company announced it would reopen its plants just as soon as they are conditioned by told employees that, for the time being, a $4-hour week will be in effect.

LAMSON JURY IS DEADLOCKED

New Storms Add To Ravage In Flood Zone

SELZ PROBE IS BLOCKED BY WORKMAN

Michael Rubonovich, former Richmond Ford plant worker,
yesterday told Police Chief L.
E. Jones and Inspector George Bengley he knew nothing of the activities of Jerome Von Braun Selz.

Rubonovich—at first feared to have been the mysterious Michael Baronovich allegedly slain by Selz—declared that he never knew Selz, despite the fact that the two had worked at the Ford plant here and had lived within a block of each other in San Francisco.

Rubonovich was closely questioned by the local officers, but they were unable to elicit any information from the man. As a result local police once again are apparently up a blind alley in their attempts to solve the murder of Joseph Anthony, who was killed with an edge here, on the night of January 7, 1935.

Officers had hoped that Rubonov-ich would be able to give them
information as to Selz activities
during the days preceding and following the Anthony murder case.

When questioned by Chief Jones
and Inspector Bengley, who made a motor trip to Newman where Rubonovich was discovered work-

Kersey Says All Charges Are Frameup

SACRAMENTO, March 21.—UP—Scandal touched one of the highest offices in California's state government today as Eric L. Trussel, 33-year-old mining man, charged Verner Kersey, state superintendent of public instruction, had wrecked his home.

The charge brought an instant denial and an allegation of a sinister political plot from Kersey, head of the state public schools for seven years.

Mrs. Stella Trussel, who divorced
the mining man only last December on charges of extreme cruelty, commented her former husband was likely "to say any

Political Use Of Relief Funds Stirs Up Row

WASHINGTON, March 21.—UP—Advocates of a broad investigation into charges of WPA political manipulation took sharp issue tonight with reports that Senate administration leaders were attempting to sabotage the proposed inquiry.

Senator J. Hamilton Lewis, chairman of the Senate committee on expenditures in executive departments said he would fight the inquiry on a basis of fair and non-partisan judgment.

Senator Rush D. Holt, D. West Va., who stirred up the dispute with charges of political manipulation of WPA funds in West Virginia said he believed that any efforts to smother the inquiry now would be short-sighted.

Governor's Sister Is Killed In Crash

MINNEOLA, Texas, March 21.—UP—Mrs. W. B. Stokes, Jr., 26, the former Hazel Allred and younger sister of Governor James V. Allred, was killed today when her automobile collided with an oil truck
at a bridge 11 miles east of Minneola.
Her husband, riding in the car, was injured slightly.

Arrest Stops Campaign Of Paper Passing

MARTINEZ, March 21.—A comtemplated bad-check passing campaign was nipped in the bud today
through the arrest of James B.
Harmon, 25, by Sheriff John A.
Miller on the Harrington ranch,
near Knightsen.

Harmon intended going into the "paperhanging" business in a big way, but made the mistake of confiding his intentions to a girl friend in Portland, in which city he was already wanted on a bad check charge.

The sheriff had been advised to keep an eye out for Harmon, word to this effect being sent him by telegram. Before beginning his search for the fugitive, however, he received a special delivery letter from Portland containing an intercepted missive to Irene which read in part as follows:

"I plan on going back to Los Angeles in April or May, make my connections and plaster the town with worthless paper, and then come back to Portland in time for the Rose Carnival. It will take two of us to sling paper. A woman can push over twice as much as a man.
I had a woman in mind—pretty nice looking—but oh, how dumb
I am sure she would go for it, but I am afraid she would get us into trouble."

Harmon is now in the county jail awaiting the arrival of officers to return him to Portland. It is hardly likely, though, that he and his sweetie, will take in the Rose Carnival this year or for several to come.

tertainment will be featured.

At the next meeting Lloyd Bell-ing will be chairman and will arrange the program.

Grand Jury Will Study Jail Charge

MARTINEZ, March 21.—If findings in a preliminary probe of conditions at the Contra Costa County Jail are sufficient to warrant Grand Jury consideration they will be presented to that body at a regular session on Friday.

Such was the indication given this afternoon by Louis Pedratti of Concord, jury foreman, as the special committee on law enforcement adjourned, after considering what steps would be taken in a contemplated investigation of charges that men and women prisoners, deputy sheriffs and a matron staged a banquet at the jail last Sunday.

Flood Holds Up The Hanging Of Eastern Slayer

HARTFORD, Conn., March 21.—
UP—The flooded Connecticut river brought a stay of execution today for John Simborski, slayer of a New Haven patrolman and last man to be sentenced to hang in this state.

Gov. Wilbur L. Cross issued a two-weeks' reprieve because pardon board members were unable to get here for Simborski's scheduled hearing Monday and because of flood conditions at Waterbury prison.

Strikers Driven Out Of Capitol

MADISON, Wis., March 21.—UP—
Gov. Philip LaFollette today brought 70 police to the capitol, mobilized National Guardsmen and ordered more than 100 WPA strikers to raise their siege of the state government.

The strikers dispersed after spending tea days camped in the assembly chamber demanding higher wages.

FIVE JURORS HOLDING OUT FOR FREEDOM

SAN JOSE, March 21.—UP—Seven tired men and five equally fatigued women, the jury charged with deciding the fate of young David Lamson of Stanford University left the case still undecided tonight as they retired to their hotel for welcome sleep.

The jurors will resume their deliberations on Sunday at 10:30 A. M.

They were "locked up" for the night at 9:37 P. M., after futile debate which increased the possibility of another "hung jury," such as the one which failed to reach an agreement
at Lamson's second trial.

SAN JOSE, March 21.—UP—A second jury in middle-aged and Clara county residents stood seven to five for conviction of David Lam-son on charges of murder at 3:45 P. M. today. It was reported in good authority.

It appeared likely as the jurors entered their second 24 hours of deliberation that it would be necessary to discharge them without a verdict.

Rising River Sends Beer To Eastern Town

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 21.—
UP—Steelton residents, their throats parched by the state's ban on alcoholic sales, received a valuable gift from the flooded Susquehanna

The overflowing river deposited 45 quarter-barrels of beer and a drum of grain alcohol on their prop-

Snow Adds To Flood Peril In The East

PITTSBURGH, Pa., March 21.—
UP—Snow and freezing weather harassed the nation's flood-scarred steel capital tonight and chilling rains pelted relief workers attempting to forestall epidemics in scores of other inundated Pennsylv-
vania communities.

The snowfall forced almost unbearable hardships on the populace of Pittsburgh which this week has endured the worst floods in history
a water scarcity, darkness, and other inconveniences. The working population sloshed ankle deep in snow and mud.

The entire state combatted the spread of infectious diseases, a threat intensified by malnutrition and the dangers lurking in the deposit of slime left by receding waters.

Military and civil authorities
worked under great handicaps to restore water supplies, sterilize contaminated reservoirs and penetrate barely accessible communities with vaccine.

Flood crests passed down swollen raging streams in 14 Eastern States Saturday night, carrying new harbors to communities in their paths and leaving in their trails at least 209 dead, $20,000 homeless and property damage in excess of $250,000.

Heavy snow in Western Pennsylvania hampered relief work in the devastated areas.

NEW FLOOD HAZARDS
New flood hazards developed in upper New York State, where many mountain streams, swollen by rains
and newly melted snow and ice,
were bounding out of their banks.
Some dams gave way.

While most of New England felt that danger had passed, conditions became increasingly ominous in New England, Massachusetts. Many industrial cities along the Merrimack were inundated, power plants very decommissioned, hundreds were reported homeless and thousands thrown out of employment because of flooded factories.

CITIES PREPARED
The Ohio river flood, fed by the Monongahela and Allegheny rivers
after brining death and destruction on Pittsburgh, Pa., and Wheeling, W. Va., moved down the valley, striking Romero, Ohio, and Huntington, W. Va. Ahead, Cincinnati and other cities prepared for emergencies.

New England (25 dead)—The Connecticut river flood crest passed

but Hartford, Conn., and Springfield, Mass., two of the hardest hit cities in the valley, were without electric power for the second successive day.

West Virginia (3 dead)—Cincinnati and other cities along the Ohio river, south of Huntington, W. Va.,

RECORDS FALL
AS CALIFORNIA
WINS IN MEET

BERKELEY, March 21—UP—Breaking two records as they ran, leaped and tossed weights over the green of Edwards Field today, the University of California track and field team defeated Washington State, 95 to 26, in the first intercollegiate dual meet of the season here.

The boys from Washington's Palouse country were not ready to cope with the strength shown by Coach Brutus Hamilton's Golden Bears.

Archie Williams, Negro flash of the California team, circled the track in 48.2 seconds to break a 410 yard school record that had stood for 16 years. Tom Moore, crack hurdler, skipped over the low hurdles in 23.6 seconds to establish another school mark.

The Californians won first places in the two dashes, the two middle distance runs, the mile, the two-mile, both hurdles, the shotput, the pole vault, the broad jump, the high jump and the relay. Washington State captured firsts in the discus and the javelin.

Showing steady improvement over their work in their initial meet, an intrasquad affair, last week, the Bears uncovered well-balanced strength and in Moore and Williams offered two strong candidates for America's Olympic team.

Legal Row Is Expected Over
Gift Children

REDWOOD CITY, March 21—UP—Two children whose mothers attempted to give them away may be buffeted through at least three county courts before some one accepts legal responsibility for them, it appeared today.

The San Francisco court decided that it had no jurisdiction over two-month-old Dolores Jones and her two-year-old brother Marlon Edward Jones, Jr.

The case then was transferred to San Mateo county court, as the father resides in San Bruno, Judge A. R. Sutton will announce here Monday whether he will accept jurisdiction.

A new complication arose when it was learned Jones, an unemployed plasterer at one time resided in Galt, Sacramento county. The courts of that county may be called to settle the question finally.

House Drafts
New Tax Plan

WASHINGTON, March 21—UP—The House tax subcommittee tonight announced a tentative agreement upon a new "yardstick" corporate tax plan, granting preferential treatment to small corporations.

The new plan represents a sharp revision of the original proposal under consideration by the House ways and means subcommittee headed by Rep. Samuel B. Hill, D. Wash.

If ultimately approved the new tax program will levy smaller taxes than those at present on corporations with small profits but will increase the levy against larger organizations.

The new draft of the bill levies a tax on the entire net income of the corporation.

The Indians 1, ended two hits in the first and three in the seventh inning, and smothered a double play. Gregory pitched seven innings, and had the Japanese well under control with only six hits, before he went out for McKel who was nicked for five hits in two innings. The Indians got 13 hits off Hatisub.

Charlie Ired By Marriage Story
Has Hired Yacht

SINGAPORE, March 21—UP—Charles Chaplin, annoyed by reports of his supposed marriage to Paulette Goddard, featured in his latest movie, chartered a luxurious private yacht today for a voyage in the East Indies.

The yacht is the Sea Belle II, owned by Sir Thomas Shenton Thomas, governor of the Straits Settlements. The governor finds the yacht expensive and occasionally hires it out to those able to pay. The last customer was Doris Duke Cromwell, the American tobacco heiress, during her honeymoon cruise with James H. R. Cromwell. The yacht is now popularly nicknamed the honeymoon ship.

There has been no confirmation of reports that Chaplin married Miss Goddard at sea while en route here from Manila.

Prison Board

U. S. Will Aid Sufferers In Flooded Area

WASHINGTON, March 21—UP—President Roosevelt marshaled government forces behind a $43,000,000 rehabilitation program tonight as the American Red Cross reported 329,000 homeless in the Eastern flood.

Central agency in the quickly devised rehabilitation program was the Works Progress Administration which granted $27,000,000 in addition to $18,411,633 provided for flood purposes.

Stantime, the Red Cross was engaged in far-flung relief program for which $3,000,000 in national contributions were being solicited.

The latest state-by-state check showed 64,131 families from 12 eastern states applied for aid.

SCIENCE GIVEN RECOGNITION BY FILMBOOM

Having successfully revived the gangster melodrama this season, the Warner Brothers have now jumped a long way in the other direction. Their latest presentation is a drama of scientific research, "The Story of Louis Pasteur," and opens at the Fox today. The companion feature is "Woman Trap" starring Gertrude Michael, Roscoe Karns, George Murphy and Sidney Blackmer.

Pasteur invades the field of serum biography which previously seemed the exclusive property of George Arliss, as Louis Pasteur, the French man, who struggled against odds to prove his theory that germs spread disease, and that weapons could be devised to defeat these messengers of death. "The Story of Louis Pasteur" is said to be another great stride forward for the screen, proving as it does that entertainment possibilities are not limited to the hackneyed plots which have been filmed and re-filmed for years, and that the discovery of new germs can be as thrilling and exciting to movie audiences as the machine-gun antics of desperadoes and G-Men.

In the cast of "The Story of Louis Pasteur" are Josephine Hutchinson, Donald Woods, Anita Louise, Fritz Lieber and Frank Reicher.

"Woman Trap" is the romance woven around the thrill-hunt of a reckless, thoughtless girl who finds that men don't play with danger—they usually mean it.

SAMUEL WHITTAKER, left, identified James Fagin Culver, right, as the man who shot and killed his wife, Mrs. Ethel Whittaker in their Los Angeles apartment. Police also took Whittaker into custody for questioning.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Triple A Administrator Chester Davis can have the job of bossing the new farm program when he returns from his European junket, but insiders don't believe he will take it. Instead, he is expected to step out of the Agriculture Department completely and be placed in charge of the President's re-election campaign in the farm belt.

John Hamilton, 44-year-old generalissimo of Governor Al Landon's forces, once was opposed by Landon when Hamilton ran for the Kansas gubernatorial nomination.

Senator Rush Holt, commenting on a statement by Relief Boss Harry Hopkins denying the existence of any graft in the West Virginia WPA: "I don't know where Mr. Hopkins bought his whitewash, but if I could have had the contract for the whitewash he used in his report I would retire for life on just the commission."

News stories about Senators taking strenuous exercise in the Senate gym are all wrong. The rowing machine and the punching bag stand idle most of the time. Senators come down to be massaged, but it is the Negro attendants who get the exercise.

The Post Office Department has turned down a request by Harvard—the President's alma mater—for a special stamp to commemorate its 300th anniversary. Reason given for the rejection:

When New Jersey's bulky Senator W. Warren Barbour offered a resolution to investigate Professor Rex Tugwell's Resettlement Administration, a bag in Resettlement observed: "Barbour, eh? I suppose he wants to trim our overhead."

NEW YORK, March 21.—With the orchestra starts playing in the club car. When I arrive in Miami, two Russian dancers, formerly in my act, meet me at the train and insist that I look at their new routine. At the Hollywood Beach club, where I stopped, they called upon me to be master of ceremonies at two charity affairs. On the beach, two song writers stop me to listen to some new ditties they've written.

So Apollo came back to New York for a rest.

HOLLYWOOD, March 21.—Tall, debonair Robert Taylor, youthful Hollywood leading man, is not an actor, he says.

"A real actor," he explains, "is someone like Paul Muni or George Arliss. They know what they want to do and then try to do it. And I just follow directions."

"You get a good director for a good story and do what he tells you and that's about all there is to it, as far as I'm concerned."

Marianne Mincar lives on the wrong side of the little town of Centerville. Embittered when her high school sweetheart deserts her for a girl who is well-to-do and socially prominent, she becomes convinced that love is cruel, and money everything.

On another occasion, a lady of fifty-odd threw her accomplice into a terrible state of nerves by acting—but hardly singing—the last act of "Bitterly." She carried an umbrella all through the singing, and at the end used it to commit hara-kiri.

To this day she can't understand why everybody laughed.

CURED—Vacation victims are trooping back from the Southern spots, full of woe. Dave Apollon, the Russian comic, returned from Miami the other day, and now sits down to write me a howling account of his sufferings.

"I went away for a rest, to get away from it all," he moans, "and what happens? As soon as I get on the train Florida-bound, a Filipino didn't resort to woman's wiles either. Just found out somebody wanted the location for a hospital and sold Bland on the undesirability of such a neighbor and the necessity of restricting the district."

Leonard turned on his heel. "Congratulations," he said over his shoulder as he strode from the room.

Gleason frowned. "What's the matter with him? Of course, he never enthuses over any deal, but I thought since this was yours, he'd feel different."

Marianne didn't answer. The way Leonard had looked! As though someone had struck him in the face. She was suddenly stricken with remorse. All the pride of her shrewdness had turned to ashes.

When she reached her rooming house, she found a slip of paper with a telephone number to call.

A deep voice answered: "Yes, I left a call for you. I'm trying to reach Len Bailey. I thought you might know... This is Doctor Lawson."

"He isn't here," Marianne replied, "but if he telephones or writes I'll be glad to give him a message."

"It's bad news," the doctor said. "We've lost a location we'd picked for a children's hospital. Tell him not to take the thing too much to heart. I'm already looking for another place, but we may have to take some place not so ideal."

"Tell him," Marianne found herself saying, in a weak voice. "She was still sitting by the telephone when the landlady came into the hall."

"Those apartments on Fifty-third—those ones my brother owns—are ready now."

"I found an apartment yesterday," Marianne answered. "But thanks for thinking of me."

"She didn't explain that she had rented an expensive penthouse and sent for her mother, confident that she was on the way to an income that could afford such things."

She went to her room and tried to study. But the lessons seemed too heavy. Perhaps if she went for a walk she'd feel better. But a glance out the window showed a dismal rain. She picked up a magazine, threw it down again. She attempted to darn her fingers.

"The story Leonard would telephone. He had telephoned every night since she had been here, unless they were out some place together. At nine she tried to reach him. But the answer was the same. 'Mr. Bailey isn't in.'"

Indeed, it would have been difficult to reach the solitary figure of the doctor, oblivious to the storm of the hour. The vision of a girl, her beauty marred by greed, went with him. A girl he wanted to hate—but couldn't.

He wanted that girl. Much as he hated her, he couldn't hate her. But he must cut loose from her. She had wrecked his hopes and ambitions—hurt him terribly. From now on, their paths must be in different directions.

"You've actually closed the deal?"

"She did," Gleason crowed. "And

Keep Cool When Child Has Spasms — Often They're Only Temporary

By CLAUD NORTH CHRISMAN, M.D.

BAD enough for big folks but it seems much worse when a lovely little form suddenly changes from soft warm curves to cold stiffness. So many things can happen to the tiny ones! We think sometimes that babies are bound to have spasms. That isn't true and with the better training in child care and feeding, the experience of seeing a baby in spasms is becoming more and more rare.

However, we still have head injuries, trouble with teeth, intestinal irritations with fever, and some acute diseases, in all of which convulsions may appear.

Anyone who cares for a child should be familiar with the signs and symptoms of the soft and apparently boneless spaces in the skull—the fontanelles, we call them. They are merely parts of the skull which nature doesn't finish until the baby is ushered into the world and capable to adjust itself somewhat to its new environment. As the bony process of the head completes its growth these soft places become hard. But while they are still pliable any tumble or blow to the child's head is hit sharply is likely to result in a convulsion.

Retarded Circulation

In most cases the trouble is only temporary and indicates that the two sides of the head have been pressed suddenly together hard enough to stop the circulation in the brain tissue. Usually the eyes roll up in the head, which is only another evidence that the reflex nerves have lost their control. Pale skin and twitching muscles are other conditions that make one feel something must be done at once.

Immersing the baby in warm water and supporting the head carefully are usual proceedings. It is well to remember that all convulsions come from a basic cause of over-irritated nerve centers and all are to be treated primarily the same until something can be done to remove the actual cause. Hence, whatever can be done to soothe or restore the nerve balance will be good.

On the other hand, it is not the time to get excited or to indulge in an outburst of any kind for that only adds to the general nervous excitement.

When babies who are suffering from getting teeth develop the tendency to have convulsions, treatment does not differ at the time but special stress must be laid upon the child's general habits. Strenuous regularity in food, sleep, and exercise will help to stabilize the nervous system and thus avoid the possibility of excess irritation.

Where gums are much swollen and irritated, plenty of cool water must be provided and the mouth kept well ventilated. A few tiny pieces of ice wrapped in a bit of sterile gauze may be permitted for the child to bite on but it cannot be laid down and then used a second time. If it affords comfort, continue to make an occasional fresh pad.

Indigestible Food

Very frequently children's spasms come from allowing the child food which it cannot digest. Or the run-about child will eat things for himself which he should not have.

In such cases, if troubles come, the bowels must be evacuated as soon as possible. A warm enema with a little soda added to the water will usually get rid of the exciting cause. Cloths wrung from warm mustard water may be placed over the abdomen and the feet may be immersed in the mustard bath.

It has to be admitted here that some high-strung children are given to fits of temperament that simulate convulsions. And indeed they are just that as far as nervous seizure is concerned. Sometimes punishment, refusal of a request, or crossing the youngster's whim in any way will bring on an attack.

But I am not telling you how to raise your children. Here is one place I shall let neighbors do it.

Guide to Charm

Wise Ways In Make-up Give Allure

By JACQUELINE HUNT

WOMEN wise in the ways of make-up always give more time and thought to the proper application of lip rouge and eye shadow than anything else. When you have mastered the tricks of using these two cosmetics, you can give balance and glamour to your entire face.

It is important to keep your eyebrows trim in line, with straggling hairs removed, clear the bridge of the nose and modify the bridge of the nose and modify the bridge of the nose slightly if necessary to bring out the nicest lines of your face.

If your forehead is wide and you wish to accentuate this feature, try the trick of extending the eyebrows at their outer ends with an eyebrow pencil. Most eyebrows are too short or skimpy and need this extending to enlarge the eyes and bring out the beauty of the forehead contours.

Use eye shadow for sophisticated moods, day or night. If your eyes are hazel you can wear almost any shade—brown, blue-green, bronze or silvery gray. Pale blondes should use delicate shades of blue, silver, gray, green or lavender. Dark eyes, too, can wear almost any shade on the color of the eyes. True brunettes may use the deeper shades like violet, green, mauve and brown.

Try blending two or three tones of eye shadow for unusual effects. If your eyes are hazel or brown, try this: Smooth a little brown shadow over the eyelid, beginning near the lashes and carrying the color well in toward the nose and up, and then use blue near the outer corners. If the effect is interesting, stop at this; if not, blend a little green shadow at the extreme outer corners and up to your eyebrow.

Now dip your finger in a jar of cold cream. Begin near the lashes and blend this over the entire lid. The different tones of shadow will be brighter and more harmonious and your eyes will be brighter and more mysterious than ever. If you prefer a subdued make-up for daytime, there are silvery gray tones of eye shadow or you can smooth a little petroleum jelly on your lids and lashes.

Skill in using lipstick requires practice. The coloring of the lips should harmonize so subtly with your skin tones that it appears natural. If your lipstick is very soft in consistency and you apply it lightly, you will have no trouble getting a natural effect. If your lips are deep and bright in color, you may find it unnecessary to use lipstick at all. But most of us need it, since the hurry of modern living tends to drain the color from cheeks and lips.

Be sure your lip color gives a clean, smooth line. Thin lips can be made to appear fuller by concentrating the color well toward the center of the lip and using a little above or below the natural line. Actually trying to change the shape of the lips or make larger lips seem smaller with the use of lipstick is a difficult task. It should be attempted only for theatrical purposes.

Beauty Tips

QUESTION: "I have only recently started doing my own housework and I find that my hands look terrible. They are rough and dry and grime and stains have settled into the little crevices. I cannot seem to get them thoroughly clean."

ANSWER: "Mrs. E. Cooper." When the hands are badly soiled apply cream, olive oil or an oily lotion and leave on for five minutes. Wipe off the cream and use a second application. Leave this on for five minutes or more, then wipe away with a soft cloth and scrub your hands in warm soapsuds with a hand brush. Rinse and dry and apply a protective hand cream.

The most amusing things we've run across lately are perfumed hairpins. They come in gardenia, honeysuckle or bouquet fragrances and in shades of ash blonde, light brown, brown and black hair. They look something like little bent pipestem cleaners. Tuck one over each ear before your parties to give your hair a romantic fragrance.

QUESTION: "How often should one manicure? Is twice a week too often?"

ANSWER: "If you have time and your nails need so much attention to keep them neatly groomed, then by all means manicure twice. Usually, however, once a week is sufficient. If you give your nails an occasional going over for rough edges and keep your cuticles soft with a good oil or cream."

Waistlines Not to Soar Until Another Season

By IRENE VAIL

New York — In attempting to digest all the ideas the fashion shows of the moment are showing, try to remember one is always at liberty to reject an unsuitable silhouette or inappropriate detail.

In fact, the opinion is generally expressed that many of the most radical changes will not go into effect for at least another season, that for spring the waistline, as an example, will not soar to an elevated plane or sink to any great depth, but will remain more or less as is. The elevated Directorate line is a coming event, the lowered line a possibility. Do not attempt, at this day and date, to juggle your figure lines. Let them remain streamline and content yourself with the innovation details so amply provided.

Fashion authorities are emphatic in agreeing that the changing of waistlines does not mean a sudden dominating difference. Rather the establishing of type variations, in which women who can wear the correctly costumed, while the slender figures to whom high waistlines appeal will be equally assured of their style rightness. No true reporter can possibly point to one silhouette as being the one and only true silhouette. There is too much evidence to the contrary, too many differences of opinion — in fact, too many silhouettes. The Directorate period as an influence is one of the surprise elements of the season, but in the annals of fashion this era of tailored coats and jackets, with their vests and lapels, has invariably put in an appearance when suits and slim skirts were in the air. And this being one of the suit years, we have Directorate.

The swallowtail so essentially Directorate has been taken for jackets by Paquin, and Mainbocher has seen fit to express some jacket styles via this French period. The typical lapels are particularly recalled in some capes of Maggy Rouff.

Mannish or boyish influence is also inevitable in the midst of a suit season, though there appears to be more emphasis on the little things of fashion to go with costumes rather than the costumes themselves. For instance, Schiaparelli, Creed and Piaget carry off the mannish idea with hats of this character, though the costumes they accompany are not singled out for any such identity.

Adding vests to suits is another way of producing a mannish effect. A certain look that creeps into a suit season, particularly if they are made in a mannish style, is the use of men's worsted suits. This is putting the cards on the table, as Faou and Bruyere suits reveal.

This adds the crispness needed with a fish entree. Clean celery and cut in 2-inch lengths. With a knife split each piece nearly to the end five times. Drop into ice water to which 1 teaspoon salt and the juice of 1/2 lemon have been added. Allow to set several hours. Drain, and toss together with watercress, chopped walnuts and a little shredded carrot. Serve with a sharp French dressing.

Cover and bake for 1 1/2 hours in a slow oven. Serve topped with whipped cream, a fluffy hard sauce or ice cream.

Shrimp Cocktail
If you buy fresh shrimp at the market, wash them thoroughly and drop into rapidly boiling salted water. Cook about 12 minutes, turn into a colander and rinse with cold water. Remove the shells and the black vein down the back. Chill thoroughly. If you wish to be extra smart serve two kinds of cocktail sauce in tiny dishes on each plate. For a spicy red cocktail sauce combine 1/2 cup catsup or prepared cocktail sauce, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1/2 teaspoon each of salt and Worcestershire sauce, a dash of tabasco and 2

MODERN WOMEN

This Philandering Husband May Not Be Able To Stand a Good Hearty Laugh

By MARIAN MAYS MARTIN

A MARRIAGE remarkable for such an astounding lack of consideration and understanding as is indicated in the letter following would appear to have small chance of success. To begin with, the man is a vain, conceited and cowardly person and the wife is a silly, green-eyed goose who never should have married this philanderer in the first place.

"My dear Mrs. Martin: This letter is all about my husband, who had told me about the girls who had loved him."

"We talked about them quite often before we were married. I told him that we must like them, since they were on his mind and he talked about them so often. He often meets them in town and we would have a good time."

"I thought after we married I would not hear any more of the girls who told him they loved him, and that he wouldn't have them on his mind any more. Before we were married one girl met him often the night that we always met and he told me that this girl said things to him that scared him, that she would do something to him, and that nobody else would have him."

"We have been married several months. He still talks about this same girl and others. He won't meet me on this night that this girl made him afraid. He comes to the house to meet me, but he won't go to town with me. He keeps out of town just for her sake."

"I have told him he must forget all the girls that loved him, get them out of his mind and stop talking to me about them."

"One night a girl came to the house selling things. When she was ready to leave he asked the girl to fix something in the house. She stayed nearly two hours and he was looking at her and making a big fuss over her and saying that she was nice and good-looking."

"I told him that was why he invited her to stay. I told him to stop doing these things and we were fighting over this for weeks. He won't meet me in the town the day the girl threatens him. He came to the house and wouldn't take me to the show that night. Two days later it was cold and snowy and he had to walk three miles and meet his supper to meet me and take me to a show."

"He flies at me. He has a quick temper, but he puts all the blame on me and says I don't love him and that I am jealous of him. I told him to try to control his temper and to realize what wrong he is doing to me, and it is all his fault that we get fighting."

"Mrs. Martin, if you think I am right by trying to help my husband to forget the other girls, he shouldn't do the things he is doing, please answer this letter in the paper and advise him that he is acting wrong towards me. That if he punishes himself together things will go better for both of us. If you think this letter is too silly to answer, I am sorry, for I want to look for your answer."

"Mrs. G. B. H."

Try Laughter
I gather from the statement, "he comes to the house to meet me," that the writer and her spouse are secretly married, or are not living together. That is the second mistake in their lives—the first, obviously, being that of their marriage.

But since they are married, my suggestion is that the wife try to bring herself to laugh at her husband's seriousness over women. Could she be amused at him? I think her attitude would eventually take the conceit out of him. As it is now, he believes himself quite a fellow with the ladies and he likes to flaunt the idea because his wife is so extremely jealous.

Try it, anyway. It will be pretty difficult for him, my dear, to keep bumping against a good hearty laugh.

Mrs. Martin will be glad to answer in this column questions of general interest. Mrs. Martin cannot reply individually to every correspondent. Names will not be published. Address her care of this paper.

To remove gelatin from the mold, try dipping the mold into hot water for a second or two. Then turn upon a wet paper. This makes it possible to slide the gelatin to any position on the plate, or onto another plate if necessary. In case of the latter, be sure that the second plate is also wet, for the best results.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning With a Go
The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile does not flow down, your food does not digest.
It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel unwell and the world looks unkind.
Laxatives are only cathartics. They bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes these good old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmonize, cleanse, and purify your system.

OLD PEOPLE find way to keep breath wholesome

Halitosis (bad breath) quickly yields to Listerine, safe antiseptic and deodorant

Either because of stomach diet, unclean food fermentation, or the wearing of ill-fitting old people frequently have halitosis (bad breath).
No wonder others consider them a nuisance.
But now Science has found that the reason for halitosis is the fermentation of food in the mouth. Food on mouth, teeth, or dental plate rotates.
This safe antiseptic and quick deodorant works quickly. It cleanses mouth, teeth, and gum surfaces. Halts fermentation and putrefaction, a major cause of odors, and then counteracts the odors themselves.
Try using Listerine every two or three days,
as how much more wholesome it leaves your mouth. How it refreshes your breath. Listerine

In a short metal plant, he told the officers that he had known Anthony quite well during his residence here.

"ALL A MISTAKE"

Rubonovich told officers that "it was all a mistake" believing he was Baranovich. He said he had worked at the Ford plant here until a year ago and had gone to New York where he started to work. In October he was in a San Francisco hospital for treatment for injuries sustained in an automobile accident. Since discharge from the hospital he had been working ever since.

Thus, by Rubonovich's statements, one of the "hottest" leads local police have had in the perplexing Anthony murder mystery has apparently faded away.

However, Police Chief L. E. Jones announced yesterday that he and his officers will continue their search for some clue that might indicate the murderer of the local man.

TO DRAG BAY

Meanwhile Sheriff McGrath of San Mateo County planned to resume dragging operations along the San Mateo bridge where the mysterious "Baranovich" was said by some to have been thrown. Parties of officers searched the country near Woodside Glens and the vicinity of Mrs. Rice's shallow grave near Saratoga Gap for the bodies of other possible victims. San Mateo deputies went to San Francisco yesterday in an attempt to tie Selz up with the murder of Eugene Cohley, smuggler and fugitive.

Officers believed evidence found in Selz's possession might possibly connect the killer, now in San Quentin penitentiary, with Cohley. A skeleton found on Skyline Boulevard has been partially identified as that of the missing smuggler.

Kersey, in whose department she is an employee. The Trussells have two children, both girls of school age.

Tussell said he had asked the State Board of Education to take some action on his charges. Attorney General U. S. Webb, however, ruled the board neither could remove Kersey nor hear or determine the charges against him.

RESIGNATION OR RECALL

The only state official elected at a state-wide election who is not subject to impeachment proceedings, the school superintendent could be removed only by a recall election or through his own resignation, Webb said.

Kersey, in Los Angeles at the time the charges were made public, announced he was returning to his Sacramento offices immediately to fight the allegations.

"NO ENEMIES"

Denying the charges and expressing amazement that they had been made, he said "there must be somebody behind Trussell, some damnable insidious motive."

"I have no enemies. I know of and have only seen Trussell three or four times in my life. Perhaps he is doing it to get on the front page, for promotion, advancement, I don't know."

"There was some talk of making me superintendent of schools in San Francisco but I don't think that's behind it."

time in not one but several penitentiaries to finally wind up in Uncle Sam's "Devil Island."

Alcatraz will not see me again. If the same could be said by convicts of all other prisons, we might have a marked decrease in our prison population.

"The fearful story by a former Alcatraz prisoner concerning treatment accorded prisoners in that Federal institution seems to prove that prisons can be made sufficiently harsh to dissuade those confined in jail from desiring to return. If that can be attained, some progress is being made for one can only judge from the number of repeaters in California prisons, that returning is accepted as a matter of course."

And the Santa Rosa Press-Democrat comments that "Perhaps the toughest punishment suffered by the tough boys at Alcatraz is the realization of the fact that they can be tough no longer. Most of them have been in the habit of talking that way they wanted by force or from a dead man's pockets."

"It's too bad," Editor Ernest Finley continues, "that Al Loomis did not like the hospitality there. A guy never gets a break in Alcatraz," he says. But there isn't a prisoner on the island that ever thought of such a thing as giving a victim a break.

Liquor Hearing Delayed By Court

Hearing for A. Rudoni, operator of a barbecue stand in El Cerrito on charges of selling liquor after hours was continued by Justice of the Peace L. F. Grover, sitting for Judge A. H. MacKinnon, until next Friday.

Deputy District Attorney Homer Patterson represented the district attorney's office at the hearing. Charges against Rudoni were filed by the State Board of Equalization.

city will be sifted also, it was indicated.

After a two-hour conference, during which District Attorney Francis P. Healey was called to the jury room with a copy of the penal code, the law enforcement committee adjourned to meet again early next week. Members of the committee are D. M. Bradley, chairman; Mrs. Dorothy Nichols, Mrs. Mary Bill, G. A. Rollette and S. J. Clegg.

TWO SUSPENDED

Aside from Pedrizzetti's announcement that the matter will be brought before the grand jury as a whole, in the event the committee feels a further investigation is advisable, no comment was made concerning the conference.

ending the probe, Sheriff John A. Miller has suspended Deputy Sheriff Elmer Short, who was on duty in the jail at the time of the alleged "mixed party," and Deputy Hercules Logan, an asserted participant, and is expected to reach a decision shortly on what action will be taken in regard to the deputy matron, Miss Lillian Stone, who is also said to have attended.

It was rumored in Martinez that the investigation had been turned over to the district attorney's office. However, Pedrizzetti stated that the case isn't a matter for the district attorney, but for the grand jury to look into.

DeHaven allegedly drove his car into the guard rail at the Nineteenth street entrance of the subway. Several sections of the rail were broken and the man's car was damaged.
